

Assistant Professor of English

The Department of English at Knox College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor in Early Modern Literature, beginning September 1, 2018.

We seek an innovative and creative scholar in Early Modern Literature, with a strong interest in Shakespeare, who will thrive in a residential, liberal arts setting. Secondary fields (including but not limited to: queer theory, postcolonial studies, multi-ethnic literatures, digital humanities, and performance studies) are desirable. The successful candidate will be committed to teaching introductory, intermediate, and advanced courses to a diverse student body in a vibrant department of scholars and writers. Participation in departmental and college service that contributes to the efficacy of our mission is expected. The teaching load is six courses per year (two per trimester). Knox College is particularly interested in qualified candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusivity of our community through teaching, research and service.

Ph.D. in English expected at time of appointment; exceptional ABD candidates considered.

Review of applications begins November 15, 2017 and will continue until position is filled.

Applications should be sent (PDF format preferred) to englishsearch@knox.edu or through the free Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/46170> and should include:

1. Letter of application addressing undergraduate liberal arts teaching philosophy and research agenda
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Three letters of reference

Additional materials, including scholarly work and teaching portfolio with syllabi, may be requested of candidates during the screening and interview process. Preliminary interviews via online video conference.
