If You Experience Sexual Misconduct

It is most important to do what is right for you. There is no right or wrong way to respond to an act of sexual misconduct. If you or someone you know has been assaulted, a variety of resources are available and we encourage you to consider the following actions:

Know Your Resources

Knox has established a Policy Against Sex Discrimination, including Sexual Harassment, Sexual Misconduct, Interpersonal Violence and Stalking that articulates the College’s set of behavior standards, common understandings of definitions, and key concepts, and descriptions of prohibited conduct. The Investigation and Resolution Procedures for Allegations of Sex Discrimination, including Sexual Harassment, Sexual Misconduct, Interpersonal Violence and Stalking also outline the College’s approach to addressing reports of sexual misconduct.

Knox College is committed to undertaking prompt, thorough, impartial and fair investigations of all alleged and suspected violations of the Title IX regulations, about which the College knows, or reasonably should know, and to treating all individuals with respect and sensitivity.

Seek Medical Care

The medical exam has two goals. First, to treat the full extent of any injury or physical trauma and to consider the possibilities of sexually transmitted disease or pregnancy and, second, to properly preserve evidence in case you decide to pursue legal action.

It is important that you do not bathe, douche, brush your teeth, relieve yourself, drink or change your clothing, as you may be destroying evidence you will need if you decide to report the incident to local law enforcement.

Emergency contraception (EC) reduces the risk of pregnancy after unprotected sex or a sexual assault. The most common form of EC is Plan B or Plan B II. It is available without a prescription from a pharmacist.

Seek Support from a Confidential Source

Talk to someone you trust. There are people on campus and in the community who are trained to help you cope with the experience of sexual misconduct and consider your options.

Counselors and medical personnel at the Knox College Health and Counseling Center can provide emotional and medical support in a safe and confidential space. They may not share your information without your expressed consent unless there is an imminent danger to you or to others or as otherwise required by law. They can also help you think through your options for filing a formal report.

During regular business hours: 309-341-7492
After hours, call Campus Safety: 309-341-7979, and ask to speak with a counselor.

A Victim Services Advocate from Western Illinois Regional Council (WIRC) Victim Services, a community action agency, can be reached through a 24-hour crisis line. The Advocate can meet a survivor at the hospital to serve as a de facto personal link between the hospital, local law enforcement, and their legal advocacy staff. This person can help a victim survivor understand the choices and rights afforded to them during the medical examination and beyond, as both a medical and legal advocate.

Services are free to the victim survivor.

Report

While we recognize that a report may emerge through many sources, we encourage those who experience sexual harassment and sexual misconduct to report directly to the Knox College Title IX Coordinator, Deputy Title IX Coordinator or a member of the Title IX Team. These individuals will support and provide you with information regarding options, including investigation and resolution procedures, interim remedies, and ongoing-emotional support. These individuals will assist in eliminating the misconduct, preventing its recurrence and addressing the effects.

All of the resources listed below are trained to support students and coordinate with the Title IX Coordinator consistent with the College’s commitment to a safe and healthy educational environment. Knox College values your privacy. Reports of sexual assault will be shared only with individuals with a need-to-know or as required by law.

Filing A Report Off-Campus

You may also choose to report the incident to local law enforcement. Campus Safety can assist you with this.

Caring Faculty and Staff Members

If you have a trusting relationship with a faculty or staff member, this may be a good place to start. With the exception of the Knox College Health and Counseling Services, all other faculty and staff of Knox College will agree to convey your request to the Title IX Coordinator. They are required to do so to ensure all victims of sexual assault have access to the special support and service the College is committed to providing. All incidents reported will be handled with care and concern for the person assaulted and for the welfare of the campus.

Amnesty/Good Samaritan Policy

The College recognizes that an individual who has been drinking or using drugs at the time of an incident of sexual misconduct may be hesitant to make a report because of potential disciplinary consequences. An individual who reports sexual misconduct will not be subject to disciplinary action by the College for personal consumption of alcohol or drugs, at or near the time of the incident. The College does not regard alcohol or other drug use that did not endanger the health or well-being of any other individual. The College may, however, initiate an educational discussion or pursue other educational remedies regarding alcohol or other drugs.

Online Anonymous Reporting Option

The College has an online mechanism for anonymous reporting of acts of sexual misconduct with complete confidentiality. The form is available at www.knox.edu/anonymouseport or under the “Forms & Requests” option on my.knox.edu. These reports will be sent to the Title IX Coordinator who will make every effort to respond, but the College’s ability to respond to an anonymous report may be limited.

If you are in danger, call Campus Safety: 309-341-7979

If Someone You Know Is Assaulted

If someone comes to you for help, recognize that they might be struggling with painful feelings—anger, fear, denial, or embarrassment. As a supportive friend or ally, you provide support, give assurance that College and community resources are available to help, and offer assistance to access these resources.

Suggestions for how to help victims/survivors of interpersonal violence:
• Be a good listener by being attentive and not passing judgment on what a victim/survivor shares with you.
• Respect the victim or survivor's need for privacy. It is their choice what and how much to share. If you are a College employee, be candid about your obligation to report the incident to the Title IX Coordinator or a member of the Title IX Team.
• Remain patient with the victim or survivor. Each person is different in how they cope with experiencing sexual or relationship violence and how much time it takes to heal.
• Help to empower the survivor. Instead of offering advice, ask how you can best support them. Offer encouragement, but do not pressure the victim or survivor to take any particular action. Respect their decisions.
• Be present for the victim or survivor. Having someone there as they explore medical, legal, and on-campus judicial options can be comforting when faced with difficult decisions and interpreting processes and procedures.
• Be mindful of your own needs and be sure to take care of yourself. People in supporting roles can benefit from professional assistance by speaking to someone at the Knox College Health and Counseling Center.

Student Group for Survivors of Sexual Assault

A support group for students who have been sexually assaulted will meet on campus. This group, led by Diane Mayfield, a counselor from WIRC-CAA Victim Services, will offer an opportunity to assist students with the healing process.

If you are a student and are interested in this group, please email Diane at diane@wirpc.org. You may also call her at 309-836-2148 or 309-837-5555, and ask for Diane. The location of the group room will remain confidential, and Diane will disclose it directly to group participants.
