

Visiting Assistant Professor of Biology

Position Description

The Biological Sciences Department at Knox College invites applications for a two-year visiting assistant professor position in biology beginning Fall 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a range of courses in molecular and/or organismal biology. This may include introductory courses as well as upper level courses that fit the candidate's area of expertise and the needs of the department. A Ph.D. at the time of appointment is preferred but exceptional ABD candidates will be considered.

Knox is an independent, selective liberal arts institution with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching in a diverse environment. Our student body is made up of 28 percent first-generation college students, 35 percent domestic students of color, and 17 percent international students.

Candidates should submit:

- Cover Letter addressing how the candidate's teaching interests and experiences are suited to a selective, diverse liberal arts college.
- Curriculum Vitae
- Statement of teaching philosophy
- Statement on their research interests
- Three letters of recommendation

Submission via Interfolio is preferred (<http://apply.interfolio.com/59170>), but documents (PDF preferred) may also be submitted via email to Dr. James Mountjoy, biologysearch@knox.edu. We will begin reviewing applications on February 4 and continue until the position is filled.
