

Assistant Professor of Economics

The Department of Economics at Knox College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor to begin September 2019. We are seeking candidates with teaching and research interests in International Economics and Economic Development.

Knox College is an independent, selective liberal arts institution with a strong commitment to undergraduate education. The Department of Economics prides itself on being methodologically diverse. As a result, familiarity with multiple paradigms is a plus. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in the candidate's area of expertise, but also introductory and intermediate level macroeconomics as well as, when possible, courses that contribute to the general liberal arts curriculum.

Successful candidates will have a sincere interest in quality undergraduate teaching at an institution that values diversity, as well as a desire to maintain an active research program. The teaching load is two courses in each of three 10 week terms. A Ph.D. at the time of appointment is preferred but exceptional ABD candidates will be considered.

Review of applications will begin on December 3rd and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by December 17th will be prioritized. We expect to be conducting interviews at the ASSA meetings in Atlanta, January 4th – 6th, 2019.

To apply, please submit:

- a cover letter;
- curriculum vitae;
- sample of written work;
- statement of teaching philosophy; and
- evidence of teaching potential (for example, teaching evaluations or sample assignments and syllabi).

Please also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted. Submit all materials through the JOE Network. Application materials can also be sent (preferably as PDFs) to jpowers@knox.edu.
