Assistant Professor of Psychology - Clinical (tenure track)

The Department of Psychology at Knox College invites applications for a full time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning Fall 2022. We are seeking a colleague who can offer courses and student research opportunities in clinical-community psychology.

Knox College is an independent, selective liberal arts institution with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. Candidates should have a sincere interest in quality undergraduate teaching at an institution that values diversity and close interactions with students, as well as a desire to maintain an active research program. We are particularly interested in creative, energetic teachers of undergraduate students who can contribute to Knox College's considerable diversity and reflect that diversity in their teaching, mentoring, and research. With over 35% of the student body identifying as American students of color and an additional 15% international students, the College seeks courses appealing and welcoming to all of Knox's students. Experience working with diverse populations of students and a commitment to teach successfully in a multicultural environment are expected.

The position involves a six-course teaching load per year (two courses per trimester) that includes lower and upper level courses in the candidate’s area of expertise, supervision of undergraduate research projects, contribution to our Clinical Psychology immersion term https://www.knox.edu/academics/immersion-experiences/clinical-psychology-term, and contributions to our introductory course and/or statistics/research methods sequence.

Knox College provides a competitive salary and a strong benefit package including health, dental, vision and life insurance, and access to a retirement plan; a tuition remission benefit is available after a two-year waiting period. Additional information can be found on our Human Resources webpage at https://www.knox.edu/offices/human-resources/employee-benefits-and-forms.

Required Qualifications:

- PhD in Psychology, Clinical Psychology, Community Psychology or a related field is expected at time of appointment; exceptional ABD candidates will be considered

Preferred Qualifications:

- Teaching experience with undergraduates

To apply, candidates should submit:

1. A letter of application that addresses the qualifications listed above, explains the applicant’s undergraduate liberal arts teaching philosophy, attention to diversity, and current and future research agenda
2. A curriculum vitae
3. Names and contact information of three professional confidential references

Submission via Interfolio: http://apply.interfolio.com/95751

Review of applications will begin October 22nd and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be addressed to psychologysearch@knox.edu.

Additional materials, including scholarly work and teaching portfolio with syllabi, may be requested of candidates during the screening and interview process. Preliminary interviews will be conducted via online video conference.
